For those who are not really in good shape, we suggest sleeping here that night. Road from Trsa toward Zabljak initially goes through pastures and meadows until you reach the slopes of Durmitor massif including Prutas and it deserves special attention, because it looks like it's made up of a multitude of rods. The next attraction is Sedlena Greda, which dominates this region. Here we expect another ascending about 200m, but for short shares. After this climb, we descend to Zabljak some 15 km. This stock is lighter, passing through Pošćenski place next to the ski slopes Savin Kuk on to the starting point.
